FUNERAL SERVICES.

Vast Throng Saw The Remains
Laid To Rest.
Body Placed in Vault to Await
Selection of Suitable Site
For The Grave.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 8.—The funeral services of the late Gov. Goebel were commenced today at noon in the parlors of the Capitol Hotel. The services proper were proceeded by a short procession in the streets of the town.

The procession was headed by a platoon of police, City Council, city officials, the grand marshal and his aids, and was followed by a band of music, secret societies, citizens on foot and the honorary pall-bearers walking by its side, these were followed by the relatives, members and officers of the Legislature, officers of state, Judges and officers of courts and friends in carriages, in the order named. Following these were citizens on horseback.

The procession formed in the western part of the city, and after marching through a few of the principal streets, came past the west door of the Capitol Hotel, where the hearse and relatives took their places in the line and the march was then taken up for the cemetery on the hill.

Immediately after the benediction the procession returned to the square in front of the Capitol Hotel, where it disbanded. There was no interment, the body being placed in the vault to await the selection of a suitable site for the grave and monument which is to be erected later.

An invitation was sent yesterday to Gen John B. Castleman, of Louisville, asking him to act as the chief marshal of the parade. Gen. Castleman replied that it would give him pleasure to do so, but that he had been ill for a few days and hardly felt equal to the task. He promised, however, to attend the funeral.

As a mark of respect to the memory of Gov. Goebel all drills were suspended for the day.

The floral offerings were magnificent. Nearly every county in the State sent flowers, and the big room was one mass of roses, lilies and smilax. Ranging along the walls were scores of floral pieces, some of them extremely beautiful, while around the bier were piled great masses of flowers. The floral pieces from Fleming, Jessamine, Campbell, Fayette and Shelby counties were especially beautiful.

As Mr. Hendrick told of this wonderful scene, tears swelled up in his eyes. The dying man was his old-time friend, fellow-senator and room-mate for four years, confidential counsellor, one of his chief trusted personal friends.

PINKERTON'S OPINION.

Is That the Assassin Shot From Room Adjoining Taylor's Office.

Taylor has permitted detectives to make an examination of the Executive building, and it is now believed that the bullet was fired from a window in the office of the Secretary of State. William Pinkerton, the celebrated detective, has arrived and began an investigation.

Col. Thomas C. Campbell, a noted criminal lawyer, has been engaged to work on the case. It is believed that in a few days arrests will be made of prominent persons suspected of being engaged in the conspiracy. The rewards for the capture of the assassins will amount to a comfortable fortune, and have attracted the services of the best detectives in the country.

New P. M. for Wring.

D. M. Adams has been appointed postmaster at Wring, Trigg county, vice J. S. Hall, resigned.

Valuable Donation.

Mr. F. J. Brownell has donated a handsome lot near the corner of 13th and Campbell streets to the Methodist church of this city and a parsonage will be erected on same at an early date.

Heavy Rain Fall.

The heaviest rain fall of the winter, in fact for a year or more, is reported over Western Kentucky. It rained throughout this section nearly all of Wednesday, Wednesday night and until two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Little river is on a high, and much of the low lands is submerged.

THE LAST ORDER.

Gov. Goebel Telf Hendrick to "Take Charge And Never Give Up."

A few hours before Gov. Goebel died he sent for Hon. Jno. K. Hendrick, his trusted friend and attorney, says the Kentucky Democrat. The scene on his entering was tragic in the extreme. The fast-dying democratic chieftain lay on bed, almost inarticulate.

But while the muscles of the tongue could barely perform their function, his great brain was still active and centered on one thing—the future of Kentucky democracy.

Mr. Hendrick entered the room and the only witnesses to this remarkable scene were Arthur Goebel and a nurse.

Approaching the bed, Gov. Goebel at once recognized Mr. Hendrick, but his voice came only in whispers, but these whispers were to convey a command fraught with the most weighty meaning.

Gov. Goebel beckoned to Mr. Hendrick and Mr. Hendrick walked to the bedside and took his hand. The governor could not make himself understood and Mr. Hendrick knelt down by the bedside and was compelled to his ear, flesh to flesh, with the governor's lips.

"How are you?" asked Mr. Hendrick.

"Very apprehensive, indeed," whispered Gov. Goebel.

This was the first time that Gov. Goebel had given any utterance that he would not recover. But even in this full realization that the end was close at hand, thought of self was absolutely foreign to his mind. He thought solely and only of the democratic party.

"I am grieved to hear you speak that way about your condition," said Mr. Hendrick.

"My only thought is about the party."

Gov. Goebel then asked this significant question:

"Am I governor of Kentucky?"

"You are."

"Have you examined the question?"

"I have, and all the other lawyers who have investigated the question concur with me."

"Take charge and never give up," said Gov. Goebel, and the governor had issued his last order.

"Gov. Goebel," said Mr. Hendrick, "was perfectly rational. He did not have any thought for himself—only for the democratic party."

And as Mr. Hendrick told of this wonderful scene, tears swelled up in his eyes. The dying man was his old-time friend, fellow-senator and room-mate for four years, confidential counsellor, one of his chief trusted personal friends.

NEW PROPOSITION.

Taylor Has Not Signed Louisville Peace Compact.

Ex-Gov. Bradley Files Suit For Taylor in Federal Court—Will Arrest Democrats.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 8.—Taylor has not yet signed the Louisville agreement, and according to the latest indications he will not do so unless it is considerably modified.

This afternoon it was announced on trustworthy authority that the usurper had prepared a new peace proposition, differing materially from the Galt House compact, and that he intends to submit it at a conference to be held to-morrow night.

Ex-Gov. Bradley filed suit in the federal court at Cincinnati this morning praying for an injunction to restrain Gov. Beckham from interfering with usurper Taylor in the effort of the latter to exercise the functions of Governor.

The rumble legislature at London this afternoon held an executive session and agreed to issue warrants of arrests for enough Democratic legislators to secure a quorum.

AGED NINETY-ONE.

One of Christian's Oldest Citizens Passes Away.

Mr. Jesse C. Wilkins, an aged and much esteemed citizen, died at his home near Laytonsville last Saturday night.

He was 91 years old and a native of North Carolina, but had been a resident of Christian county for about 70 years. He leaves three children, Mr. W. E. Wilkins, of this city, and Mr. J. M. Wilkins and Miss Mary G. Wilkins, of Laytonsville.

Early in life he professed religion and had been a consistent member of the Methodist church for many years.

Mr. Wilkins was a man of much prominence and in his death the county has lost one of its most valued citizens.

The burial took place Monday in the Shaw burying ground.

REV. S. P. FORGY.

Well Known Minister Gone To His Reward.

Rev. S. P. Forgy, a well known minister of the gospel, died at Pembroke Tuesday, after a protracted illness, of kidney trouble. He was in the 74th year of his age and was licensed to preach 52 years ago.

He served as pastor of the Glasgow Baptist church for five or six years and at Trenton and Allensville for about twenty years, after which he served Salem church for several years. He had not been actively engaged in ministerial work for a number of years. He leaves a large family.

The interment took place in Pembroke cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

MEETING AT CADIZ.

Tribute to the Dead Governor by Trigg Citizens.

Cadiz, Ky., Feb. 6.—The Democrats and Populists of this county met in mass convention here yesterday and unanimously adopted strong resolutions condemning the assassination of Governor Goebel. Many ladies were present. The meeting was called to order by Hon. Fenton Sims and was presided over by Hon. Jas. B. Garnett. Dr. Lackey made a strong speech on the adoption of the resolutions. Col. Sims, who read the resolutions, broke completely down. The house was packed and there were few dry eyes in the room when the meeting adjourned.

GIANT.

KILLED BY CARS.

Joshua N. Grant Loses His Life At Crofton,

Joshua N. Grant, who was guarding the switch at Crofton, was found dead by the railroad track Wednesday morning. There was a deep gash on his forehead and it is believed that he went to sleep on the track and was struck by a train. Grant had been a section hand in the employ of the L. & N., but was recently given the position of switchguard. It is thought that he was struck by the south bound express. The body was found in a short while after the train had passed, and the indications were that death was instantaneous.

Grant was about 25 years old and leaves a widow and two small children, who reside in Crofton.

BLOODED STOCK.

Black Alycone Part of String Sold This Week.

Mr. F. C. Burnett, of Paducah, has purchased of Mr. J. J. VanCleave five head blooded horses. The string includes Black Alycone, the celebrated pacer, with a record of 2:17 1/4. The price paid was $3,100 for the five. Black Alycone was being figured at $1,800. The horses were shipped to Paducah this week.

Mr. VanCleave is rapidly forging to the front as a breeder of fine stock and he handles the business in a way to make it profitable.

Mr. Estell McCown, has charge of Mr. VanCleave's stock and his ability as a developer can hardly be excelled. It was largely due to his efforts that the recent sale was so quickly and satisfactorily made.

NEW TREASURER.

Mr. E. B. Long Succeeds Mr. W. T. Tandy.

The Board of Commissioners of the Western Asylum met Tuesday in regular session. The principal business was the election of a Treasurer of the Asylum to succeed Mr. W. T. Tandy, whose term has expired.

Mr. E. B. Long, President of the City Bank, was elected without opposition. The Board is now composed of the following members:

Chas. Knight, Jas. Breathitt, M. F. Shryer, J. W. Downer, Geo. C. Long, G. W. Wiley, M. D. Meacham, Gabe L. Campbell and T. B. Fairleigh. The last three are the retiring members, whose term are now out.

STEWART-McGHEE.

Trigg County Groom And Christian County Bride.

Mr. Alonso C. Stewart, a well known Trigg county farmer living near Cerulean Springs, and Miss Mable E. McGhee, of near Bainbridge, were married at the home of the bride's parents Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Browder, of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of guests who had assembled on the happy occasion.

Big lot of dress goods. Some are one-third, some one-half regular prices.

SPORT IN THE WEST.

Riding a Bucking Mule Requires Skill and Courage.

"Punches" Adventure Graphic by Described by a Story Teller from Indian Territory - How the Indian Was Subdued.

The Coming Major's prize for the best short story submitted by a college graduate in 1899 was awarded to John M. Oshman, of Lehigh University, whose history of the Indian territory, "How the Indian Was Subdued," is the title, and one of its scenes describes of a ride on a bucking mule.

"Out of a knot of excited men Hanner went straight to the waiting, restless mule. With a single bound he sprang across the excited mare across the flank with his sabre, after roughly seizing the reins. No one who has not learned by experience how to mount a galloping horse can understand the skill required to do this, or of the value of rearing mules and singularly endearing them to the saddle before they are given to the men to turn the animal loose.

"When the mule found itself free to act there was no time to waste. It dashed through the sharp, sandy roads straight into the air, with the animal's back bowed, its legs stiff, and its head lowered. It was the first powerful effort of the angered beast, made with desperation. The rider, however, was severely shaken in these first startling jumps, but then began the twisting series, which is the second expedient of a bucking animal. A jump high into the air, with a seemingly impossible twist to the side, landed the mule with its feet in the air, and the rider down. Before the rider caught his breath another jump and another fall, two more were made. These are the motions that make a bronco-buster's life shorter.

"Hanner was bleeding at the nose in half a minute. The twisting jumps

TO CHECK SENILITY.

Dr. Metchnikoff Claims to Have Discovered a Serum by Which Death May Be Warded Off.

Dr. Metchnikoff's discovery of an alleged means of checking senility is still the subject of much interest, though the authors are still trying to prevent the premature publication of the results of their researches. The distinguished physician, however, received a correspondent in his private laboratory in the Faubourg St. Germain.

"At present," he said, "we are only in the theoretic stage, but the surprising success that has attended our experiments thus far gives hope that we soon shall be far beyond mere theory. Until the best serum for use to the end of strengthening and invigorating the nobler cells of the human body is found, we must be contented to fight off senility with such expedients as those just mentioned, but this must be done, the cells needing it are armed for the conflict with their destroying neighbors. Then death will become less terrible. The final hour will arrive, but it will be far from being the end of life. The time measured will come when we shall be able to maintain for an indefinite period the equilibrium between the constructive and destructive forces of the body. I am not prepared to say that man ever will be able to live always. No one would desire that. Some day we will entirely outside one's self, but really within, now commands that one should die. All we will be glad of death at some time, just as we wish to stop eating when we are satisfied."

(Reputed Inventor of a Serum That Checks Senility.)

The Duke of Westminster, president of the Academy of Medicine, expresses regret that this so-called discovery has received such wide publicity thus early. "It has not yet come before any scientific body for examination," he says, "and until this happens scientific men will pay no attention to newspaper talk on the subject."

were continued until the strength of the mule was almost exhausted, and as yet only the hat of the puncher had been dislodged. A short pause followed, during which the mule changed its tactics, and then, with a final lunge and with his open hand, the next motion was a sudden, tearing by the mule. As it rose on its hind legs the rider yanked fiercely on the reins, and, slipping to the ground on one side, allowed the mule to roll over him. Then the rider, who had buried himself in the earth, and the mule's hoofs beat the air a moment before it scampered to its feet.

"Hanner was cooler than the mule now, and even his hair had lost its fiery red hue in the first moments of the desperate animal. This was the easy part of the trial for the rider, and the spectacular part for the sword. The mule ran straight away for the opposite fence of the fairground, and, as it did so, the rider, falling flat, took a second measure of the Cheshire Yeomanry cavalry. The romantic interest aroused by the determination of the young duke to remain in the field in South Africa, is increased by a re-

Several More Sirs Are Abashed.

The suggestion of substituting a Martin-Netford carbine for the sword an officer usually carries is being largely discussed in military circles. The objection against the sword is that, when marching through hills and valleys, hampers an officer's movements. In general, the sword is good, while a cane, too, could be used as a walking-stick, thus being a great help and support.

FIRST IN THE WORLD.

We Lead The Nations in Drinking Coffee.

We are the greatest coffee drinkers in the world. In 1897 we used 630,000,000 pounds of coffee. This was 10,000,000 pounds more than was consumed by all the combined countries in Europe. We have increased our consumption of coffee during the past year at the rate of more than a pound per person, and we now use fully fifty pounds annually for each person in the United States.

The amount spent for this coffee is enormous. During the last ten years we have paid out $875,000,000 or $72,000,000 per annum for coffee alone. The larger part of this money has been paid to Brazil. But it is safe to say that there is a good reason behind this enormous consumption of coffee, and the revolution which has taken place in the coffee trade of the United States during the last twenty years is an excellent illustration of the principle that Americans and American skill and bring prices to so low a point that the greatest luxuries may be enjoyed by the people of this country at the smallest cost. Thirty years ago there was not one pound of roasted coffee sold in this country where now there are forty.

In those days retail grocers bought and sold coffee in its green state, and each consumer roasted it for himself in an iron pot over an ordinary fire. Of course it was impossible to obtain uniform results from such crude methods, and from lack of experience and stupidity the coffee was far less palatable, but there was one great advantage in this method, viz., that the coffee was freshly roasted and did not have time to lose the aroma and perfect strength by being exposed to the air. This is a feature of the coffee question to which too little attention has been paid. Roasted coffee loses in quality and aroma from the very moment it leaves the roaster. If it can be kept in a tightly-closed receptacle, this is largely avoided, but it ought never to be placed in a wooden box or bin possessing any odor, for coffee is peculiarly susceptible to surrounding odors, and when exposed to the air all its delicate aroma is rapidly dissipated.

There is a very famous brand of coffee now before the public called Lion Coffee, which has come into favor with consumers, not alone because of its purity and high quality, but by reason, doubtless, of the fact that immediately after roasting in the mills it is tightly closed in a sealed package, practically air proof. Thus the aroma is carefully preserved. All adulteration is impossible. No impurities can creep into the closed package and full weight is absolutely guaranteed. Without a word being spoken, the purchaser of a package

Lion Coffee has his guarantee of correct weight, uniform quality, absolute purity and unsurpassed aroma and strength at no extra cost. Everything is reduced to an exact system, and it is little wonder that Lion Coffee to-day is rapidly supplanting the old favorites of the last ten years.

It is truly a remarkable brand. Grown on the uplands, at a level of nearly 500 feet above the level of the sea, it is cultivated with great care and unceasing attention. Immense capital has been expended to develop this most famous of all coffees. Very recently the Lion Coffee mills at Toledo have been re-erected by very large mills, newly erected in Brooklyn, N. Y. The Brooklyn mills are equipped with every latest appliance for carrying on the business in the most scientific way. The purchaser of Lion Coffee may be assured that he is buying nothing but coffee, that it is of the highest grade, and that from the standpoint of economy he could not make a better choice. The preservation of its aroma and its wonderful natural strength combined, make it a most delicious beverage. A single pound makes forty cups. This is a record which very other brand can attain.

If our readers have never tried this really remarkable coffee we urge them to do so without a day's delay.

LEARN FROM THE SPIDER.

Little Insect Teaches Something of Military Science.

Everyone remembers the famous anecdote of Robert Bruce and the spider, which encouraged him to renew his patriotic efforts when he was highly disengaged, in a hut. Others will remember how David was saved from the pursuit of Saul by the spider that spun its web over the mouth of the cave in which he was hiding and misled his pursuers into the idea that he could not possibly be in the cave. But the latest discoveries of an American scientist, Dr. Mary I. Cunningham, may suggest to military men that the habits of the spider are instructive as to tactics. Seated at the center of operations, he feels the slightest touch at any part of his domain by the wonderful telegraph line built by himself. His method of providing a line of defense, avenues of escape and his constant oversight of his territory impress us with hearty respect for the skill and cleverness of the most wonderful of insects.—N. Y. Herald.

result. Yet the friends of the library are not disengaged nor inactive. The proposition to erect a library building on one entire block of the exposition site has aroused public interest and meets with general favor. In location, present and future, nothing better could be found in the city. The structure would accommodate millions of books, and the first libraries of the world show this to be necessary. A reconstruction of buildings on the exposition blocks is clearly one of the duties of the near future.

EARLY ENGLISH COACHES.

Their Introduction Said to Have Been Due to Queen Eleanor.

The introduction of coaches in England is credited to Queen Eleanor, who died in 1291. Her death was thus amably discussed in a builder of the time, entitled "A Warning Piece to England Against Pride and Wickedness, being the fall of Queen Eleanor, wife to Edward, King of England, who, for her pride, by God's judgment, sunk into the ground at Charing Cross, and rose at Queenhithe."

She was the first that did invent, in coaches, bridle, ride;

She was the first that taught this land To deadly sin and pride.

Later testimony, no less direct, credits the first introduction of coaches to Sir Thomas Chamberlayne, English ambassador to the court of Charles V. of Spain; and again to the earl of Rutland, for whom Walter Rippon, Queen Elizabeth's subsequent coachmaker, is recorded to have built the "first coach that ever was seen in England, Anne Domini, 1555."

However this may be, a great star was certainly made in England by the magnificence of the royal coaches which Queen Bess received as presents from her admirers abroad. Her admirers at home followed suit. Thus Sir Philip Sidney risked his knightly reputation by appearing in a coach instead of on horseback, riding into Shrewsbury in his wagon, with his trumpet blower, very joyful to behold." Good Bishop Hall, in his "Satires," published shortly afterwards, took a less joyful view:

It was not a shame to see a great man perched in an idle chariot room. That was not some panel to bestride, Sun-gilded to a gaudy horse's head.

In spite of such criticisms, the use of coaches grew apace, so that young Shakespeare could earn a livelihood by holding the coach horses of the ladies that drove to the Globe theater. In 1601 a bill was actually brought in parliament "to restrain the excessive use of Coaches within this realm of England."—Automobile Magazine.

A SKULL BANJO.

Grotesque Musical Instrument Made by the Paraguayan Indians.

Skull banjos are the product of the small country of Paraguay. The Indians of ancient times were constantly engaged in warfare, and their primary aim when thus engaged was to capture the chief of the opposing side. When captured this personage was carried to their camp and there cruelly murdered, and it was from his body that this gromswe, curious musical instrument was made.

After the skull was thoroughly dried the top was cut entirely off. Over the opening thus made a piece of skin taken from the body was tightly stretched in the manner of a drum. In the back of the skull the two femurs of the legs were inserted. These bones were so trimmed that they were of uniform thickness throughout the entire length. The ends of these bones were joined together by one of the ribs from the body. He could not possibly be in the cave.

Then from the forehead of the skull to the rib which connected the femurs strings were tightly stretched. These strings were made from the skin of the victim, thoroughly dried and rubbed over with resin. So rare a relic was this that it is considered that a gentleman of England bid $125 for one at a recent auction in London.

The skull was left so that the jaws were movable. Therefore, with each shake of the instrument the jaws wagged, and with any sharp jolt the teeth came together with a snap. So rare a relic was this that it is considered that a gentleman of England bid $125 for one at a recent auction in London.

"We've got the men, we've got the means, but we haven't got the general's," is now the sad refrain of the British Jingoos.

TOBACCO MARKET.

(Reported by J. H. Egerton, of Canning & Egerton Co., Incorporated, buyer on order of dealers in and distributor of leaf tobacco.)

Feb. 7, 1900.—The market opened up this week about the same as last in prices, although offerings consisted mostly of lugs and common leaf. Lugs were in fair demand and the bulk of the leaf was taken by steamers and rehandlers.

The condition was not so good on account of the extreme wet weather we are having. The main feature of the market was the first sale of the Growers' Warehouse, same being the initial sale for that warehouse, and, considering circumstances, a fair beginning for them. The loose market remained the same as heretofore, selling seven or eight loads per day and just as soon as the weather clears off will have large sale in that department. Quotations same as last week.

TOBACCO STEMMING

Machine Invented by Washington ian Exciting Much Interest.A Washington man has invented a machine which will take the stem out of tobacco, says the New York Journal.Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in experimenting all over the South to obtainsuch a machine, and the problem is solved by employing compressed air.It is a very simple contrivance, but by its mechanism a puzzle over which hundreds of men have worked and on which thousands have been spent is solved.All the vast amount of tobacco grown the world over is stemmed that is, has the stem separated from the leaf—by hand, and in every state of the tobacco growing regionsthere have been for 50 years men at work to obtain a piece of machinery which would do the thing required. But it seemed impossible, the peculiar state of the leaf in stemming, such as the factthat it must be damp and is full of gum, which clogged any machine, preventing any solution of the problem. By the Hudson Machine the stem is taken out, the leaf is clean-at the same time and all is done in a moment as fast as it can be fed, suction being the means of accomplishing the end.The effect that the machine will have on the tobacco trade may be estimated from the fact that the production of whisky and tobacco is so large that the revenue on these two products a year would be enough to support the Government in any ordinary expense. In 1899 about 900,000,000 pounds of the leaf were grown in this country, and an equal amount is produced abroad, Russia,
Germany, France, the Philippines,
Central and South America, Cuba and Puerto Rico having large crops.To stem this immense weight of leaf there were hundreds of hands employed, and about $5, 000,000 expended.

A Man And His Thirst.

Dr. James Edward Kelly, a "big" expert, testified in a New York court that one of his patients, seventy-five years old, drank 100 hogsheads of whisky and then became a teetotaler. A hogshead large enough to hold the 6,300 gallons he consumed would permit a man to crawl through the bunghole.

ADVANCE BEGUN.

Bombardment of the Boer Position Opened Monday.

British Continue to Hold, Captured Position, Which Opponents Concede Important One.

Spearman's Camp, Wednesday, Feb. 7.—Gen. Butler commenced the advance for the relief of Ladysmith Monday. The naval guns opened at 7 in the morning and a faint attempt was made in front of our position. Three battalions advanced toward the Brakfontein with six batteries. At 11 o'clock the Boers opened with artillery fire and sent several shells among the British infantry, who retired an hour later.

Meanwhile a vigorous attack was made on the extreme right, where the engineers expeditiously constructed a position. Several pieces of cannon, hidden among the trees on Zwart Kop, bombarded heavily. The British infantry advanced and the Boers were entirely surprised.

At 9 o'clock a high hill, a continuation of the Brakfontein, had been taken. The operations were excellently planned.

The name of the hill taken is Krantz Kloof.

The bombardment of the Boer position was resumed yesterday morning. The Boers used a disappearing cannon from the high Door Kloof range, on the right of the captured hill, but the English shells exploded its magazine and the gun was put out of action until late in the day.

Musketry fire was intermittent until the afternoon, when the Boers made a determined effort to retake the hill. Reinforcements rushed up, cheering, the Boers were repulsed and the British advanced along the ridge.

London, Feb. 8.—A special dispatch from Spearman's Camp, dated Wednesday, Feb. 7, says: "Our further advance is at the moment prevented, as the Boers enfilade us from their positions on Spion Kop and Doorn Kloof. Our casualties, although estimated at 250, are trifling, considering the great importance of the movement just concluded."

Boer Head Laager, Ladysmith, Tuesday, Feb. 6, 11 a.m.—Further reports of yesterday's fighting at the Upper Tugela River show that the British lost heavily at Pont Drift, but took an important position on a small kopje on the Molendrift side. Four Boers were killed. The British loss is unknown. They are still in possession of the kopje and the big guns have ceased firing.

BRAVE WOMAN.

Admonishes Her Husband Not to Desert His Post at Frankfort.

PEACE TERMS.

Conference Report Taylor Was Asked to Sign.

Chance Given Him to Retire Without Prosecution For Upsetuation.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—Whether it shall be war or peace in Kentucky rests to-night with W. S. Taylor. It has been on his mind all day, and to-night he declared he had reached no decision and will give none till to-morrow.

In that conference were seven Republicans and seven Democrats, and the result was the following agreement in substance:

First—That if the General Assembly in joint session shall adopt a resolution ratifying their recent action adopting the contest reports seating Goebel and Beckham, the contestants, W. S. Taylor and John Marshall, shall submit without further protest.

Second—That all parties shall unite in an effort to bring about such a modification of the election law as will provide for nonpartisan election boards and insure free and fair elections.

Third—That the conditions shall remain in statu quo until Monday, the General Assembly meeting and adjourning from day to day until that time.

Fourth—That nothing shall be done to hinder or prevent a joint session of the General Assembly for taking action on the ratification resolution.

Fifth—That the State Contest Board shall meet and adjourn from day to day until Tuesday without taking any action on the contests for minor State offices.

Sixth—That the State troops shall be removed from the State capitol at once, though with all necessary precautions for the public safety.

Seventh—That the Republican officials and officers of the State Guard shall have immunity from charges of treason, usurpation, court-martial or any other such offense.

The agreement was signed by the following:

Republicans—John Marshall, Judge John W. Barr, Gen. Dan Lindsay, T. L. Edelen, Dr. T. H. Barker, David W. Fairleigh, C. T. Ballard.

Democrats—J. C. S. Blackburn, J. C. W. Beckham, Sam J. Shackford, Urey Woodson, James B. McCreary, Phil Thompson.

Unless he is demented this agreed basis of a settlement will be accepted and ratified by Mr. Taylor; if he is demented he will be dealt with and disposed of accordingly.

Meanwhile the Democratic members of the Legislature are resting on their oars, waiting for an opportunity to return to Frankfort and resume business. The Republican members are still at London, where they met yesterday and went through the form of organizing.

LOST PLYMOUTH ROCKS.

Chicken Thief Took Choice of The Flock.

A chicken thief entered Mrs. Mollie Lowry's hen house Tuesday night and carried off eight fine Plymouth Rock hens. The thief seemed to be choice in his selection, as the other fowls were not disturbed. The house was not locked, but the party left behind an iron poker, which he evidently intended to use in prizing open the door in case he found it fastened.

Heavy Reward for Assassin.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—Money is the only necessary factor in capturing the assassins of Gov. Goebel, the men who conspired to murder him will suffer for the crime. Telegrams and letters being received here to-day show that the people of the State are so anxious to have the culprits run down that they have begun to raise money for the purpose of offering it as a reward to the captors. With the $1,000 which is to be offered by the Legislature and the rewards offered from various other sources, the total today amounts to something like $60,000.

An Invitation to Women

All the world knows of the wonderful cures which have been made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, yet some women do not realize that all that is claimed for it is absolutely true.

If all suffering women could be made to believe that Mrs. Pinkham can do what she says she can, their suffering would be at an end, for they would soon profit by her advice and be cured.

There is no stronger feeling than that woman will suffer greater pain month after month when every woman knows of some woman whom Mrs. Pinkham has helped, as the letters and telegrams constantly being published at their own request.

The same arrangements which make painful or irregular periods with dragging-down sensations presently develop into those serious inflammations of the feminine organ which often follow.

Mrs. Pinkham invites women to write freely and confidentially to her about their health and get the benefit of good experience with the suffering of women. No better person can advise you so well. No remedy in the world has the magnificent record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which cures all sorts of female ills. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Three Letters from One Woman, Showing how She Sought Mrs. Pinkham's Aid, and was cured of Suppression of the Menstrus and Inflammation of the Ovaries.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have been in bed a year. Doctors say I have female weakness. I have a bad discharge which comes across my ovaries, being down pain, and I have not menstruated for a year. Doctors say the menses will never appear again. I hope to hear from you. —MRS. F. BROWN, Holton, Kan., Aug. 13, 1898.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have taken one bottle and a half of your Vegetable Compound, and send two packages of your Wash, and feel greatly relieved. I can walk a few steps, but could not before taking your Compound. I still have the discharge and am sore across the ovaries. I have been told by one that I look better since taking your Vegetable Compound."—MRS. F. BROWN, Holton, Kan., Aug. 13, 1898.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have taken one bottle and need your aid. I have pains in both sides of the womb and a dragging sensation in the groin. Menstruation irregular and painful; have pain in the womb, pain in the abdomen, headache, backache; nervousness, and can neither eat nor sleep."—MRS. CARL PHILLIPS, Anna, Ill., Sept. 18, 1897.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I want to thank you for what you have done for me. When I wrote to you I was a total wreck. Since taking your Vegetable Compound I have been in a more active Wash, my nerves are stronger and more steady than ever before, and my backache and those terrible pains are gone. But I feel very weak. I am weighed less than one hundred and thirty pounds. I now weigh one hundred and fifty-five pounds. Your medicine is a Godsend to poor women. I would like to ask you why I cannot have a child. I have been married nearly ten years."—MRS. CARL PHILLIPS, Anna, Ill., Sept. 18, 1897.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I did as you advised me, and now I have the happy mother of a fine baby girl. I believe I never would have had her without your Vegetable Compound."—MRS. CARL PHILLIPS, Anna, Ill., Sept. 18, 1897.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—When I wrote to you some time ago, I had been suffering from falling of the womb for many years without obtaining relief. Was obliged to wear a bandage all the time; also had bad headache and backache, felt tired and worn out. After taking six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I feel like a new woman."—MRS. F. N. BLAKE, Confluence, W. Va.

At a mass meeting at Dixon, Tenn., a town of less than a thousand inhabitants, $1,000 was pledged to the monument fund of the late Governor Goebel.

AUTOPSY

Demonstrates That The Bullet Ranged Front to Back.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—After an all-day consideration the Goebel brothers finally yielded to the necessity for holding an autopsy on the remains of the dead Governor. It was conducted by Messrs. Hume, Ely and Welch. What is revealed will not be made public, but it is evidence in case it should be needed in court. The doctors will not talk, but it is evident that if called upon they will testify that the range of the bullet was from front to back and downward and not from back to front and upwards.

The showing that the bullet entered the right breast confirms the claims heretofore made that the bullet was fired from the executive building and the range of two inches from point of entrance to exit shows that the assassin must have been on the first floor, when he turned loose the death-dealing missile. Statements heretofore made were that the firing was from the second or third floors. If by the bullet range it can be established that the shot was fired from the first floor it brings the deed closer to Taylor's office.

EXTRA SESSION

Of the Legislature To Be Called in April.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 7.—It is now believed to be certain that an extra session of the General Assembly will be convened early in April, to continue for sixty days.

Taking it for granted that Taylor will sign the peace agreement, an effort will have to be made to modify the election law, while the Democrats are anxious to pass the McChord Railroad Bill and the Nelson School Book Bill.
